

As many of you know, I am an independent recording and touring musician. Much of my income happens because of record sales. Touring and live performance are on hold because of social distancing and the global pandemic. That said, I want to extend my gratitude to everyone who has supported my music by either showing up at a concert or buying a CD.

My website offers a digital download of my music through Paypal. If you would like a physical copy of the CD, please write to me through the contact page. I will get back to you promptly to help make that happen.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Billy
